

CURRICULUM

At A Glance

There are three things we want everyone to get out of our curriculum

One: Being the boss is really simple and really hard.

Two: You have to care about people.

Three: It's okay to screw up.

We customize our curriculum for every group.

We were managers. We know managers all face similar challenges. However, every company has some things that matter more for them right now. Take a look at the potential topics below and let us know what jumps out at you. Together, we'll design a program that works best for you.

The big stuff

Emotional Intelligence
Motivation
Accountability
Communication
Storytelling
Presenting Influence
Change
Teambuilding

The tough stuff

This is the stuff that will challenge and reward managers like nothing they've experienced in their careers. Our curriculum helps them discover how their actions inspire others.

- Making decisions
- Approaching tough conversations
- Risking not being liked
- Hiring a new team member
- Handling conflict and performance
- Coaching
- Being a champion
- Creating a culture

The squishy stuff

This is the stuff that, when we see it in others, we think 'I want to be like that.' Our curriculum helps individuals discover how their mindset inspires others.

- Sharing our story
- Recognizing everyday leadership
- Discovering our motivation
- Thinking strategically
- Embracing risk
- Lifting others up and bringing them together
- Handling change, big and small
- Asking for forgiveness rather than permission

The career stuff

When it comes to our career, it's easy to get stuck. This part of our curriculum is designed to get everyone looking into the future in order to show up fully in the present.

- Developing a personal vision and mission

DISCOVER MORE

discoversendline.com

thom@discoversendline.com

509.596.1483